

M.G. [Stand 148]

M.G. Car Co. Ltd., Abingdon-on-Thames, Berks.

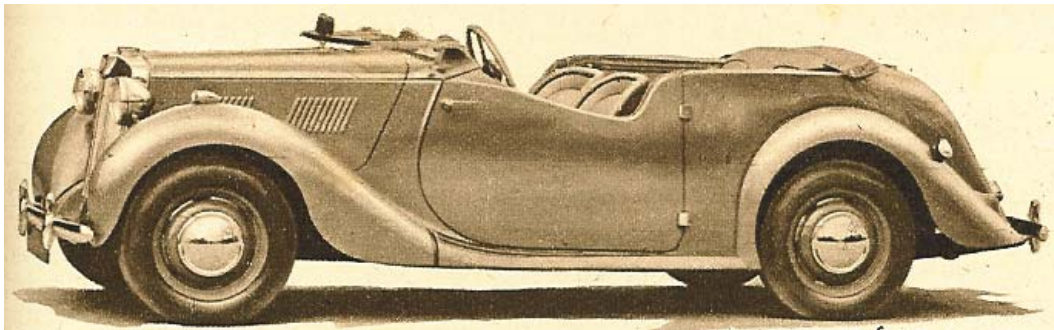

WITH its lively performance, comfortable suspension, and light steering the M.G. Series Y 1¼-litre saloon has established a secure hold on the affections of motoring enthusiasts who want quality in a car not too large or too expensive to run. Furthermore, the car is a good looker and has a well-designed and well-arranged body. It is a worthy companion to the famous little TC Midget open two-seater sports M.G. which is a car with an inbuilt thrill most satisfying to the younger generation.

There is on this stand a new model M.G. which has been requested from overseas, a four-seater open tourer based on the chassis of the Series Y saloon. This is powered by a four cylinder 1¼-litre engine with push-rod-operated overhead valves and twin semi-downdraught S.U. carburettors. The design provides for inter-axle seating, with the passengers placed low in the car for comfort and protection.

When not occupied the rear seats are protected by a detachable tonneau cover and the hood, when lowered, is similarly concealed. If the hood is used purely as a shade from the sun, the rear panel can be removed by operating zip fasteners. Detachable and rigid side curtains are provided.

1¼-litre.-4-cyl. 66.5x90 mm (1,250 c.c.). Overhead valves, 4-speed, synchromesh (5.143, 7.121, 10.646, 18.0 to 1). Central change. Wheelbase 8ft.3in. Track (front) 3ft 11¾in; (rear) 4ft 2in. Overall length 13ft 4 in, width 4ft 11in, height 4ft 10in. Suspension, independent coil front; half elliptic rear. Tank capacity: 8 gallons.

List price, saloon £525; British purchase tax £146 11s 8d. Drop head coupé £525 (export only).

For overseas markets the 1¼-litre M.G., hitherto seen only in saloon form, is now available with this neat open body of tourer as distinct from sports character.

Originally published in The Autocar October 29, 1948.